

Dotted Telegraphic Postmarks of Greece

At the end of 1911 a new type of postmarks was manufactured by the Hellenic Post and was made available to the offices of the Territory where the Telegraphic and Postal Service was operating as well as to those offices that operated exclusively Telegraph Offices.

The Dotted Telegraphic Postmarks manufactured were single-circular, with the circumferential line of the circle dotted with 36 small dots and an outer diameter of 29 mm. In the middle and horizontally, the date is written in the middle, while the name of the Telegraph Office is written on the inside top part of the telegraph office in a genitive case with the words "THΛ. ΓΡ." at the beginning. A characteristic feature of the stamps is that the letter "T" of the indication "THΛ. ΓΡ." and the last letter of the name of the telegraph office are in a straight line parallel to the horizontal date.

These stamps were used by the telegraph offices that were housed together with post offices and for postal use, i.e. for franking the mail they handled.

The dotted telegraphic postmarks were not used for handling postal mail by the exclusive State telegraph offices located in large cities and housed in different buildings from the post offices. The latter used it only on telegrams.

The earliest use of the postmarks that has been found is on 30 November 1911. They were encountered mainly until the end 1920s and on rare occasions and in a few offices thereafter. Their last known date of use is 4 January 1960.

At the end of November 1911, the date on which the use of telegraphic postmarks began, the country was under the Administrative Division of 1909, which was established on 4 December 1909 by Law

ΓΥΛΔ' (no. 3434) published in the Official Gazette A' 282/1909. The 1909 Administrative Division created 16 prefectures comprising five departments: Central Greece, Peloponnese, Cyclades Islands, Ionian Islands and Thessaly. The stamps were used by the offices operating in 15 of the 16 prefectures.

The next Administrative Division took place in 1915, but it did not significantly affect the 16 Prefectures of that of 1909, but new Prefectures were added, arising from the areas liberated due to the Balkan Wars.

So far 187 different dotted telegraphic postmarks have been found.

In 1912, after the liberation of the East Aegean islands, another different type of postmark was made for the telegraph office of Chios.

Greece in November 1911

This exhibit presents in five frames the dotted telegraphic postmarks used in the Telegraph and Post Offices, classified by Departments and Prefectures, based on the 1909 Administrative Division of Greece which was in force at the date of their first use in November 1911.

1. The Prefecture of Attica & Boeotia was made by the Administrative division of 1909 from the union of two prefectures of Attica & Boeotia and had Athens as its capital. In 1943 it was divided into the prefectures of Attica, with Athens as its capital, and Boeotia, with Levadia as its capital.

2. The Prefecture of Phthiotida & Fokida was made by the Administrative division of 1909 from the union of two prefectures of Phthiotida & και Fokida. Its capital was Lamia. In 1943 we had the split into two prefectures. The Prefecture of Phthiotida with Lamia as its capital and the Prefecture of Fokida with Amfissa as its capital.

3. The Prefecture of Euboea had no change in the Administrative division of 1909. The capital of the prefecture was Chalkida. The prefecture at the period under consideration included all the Sporades islands.

4. The Prefecture of Aetolia & Acarnania in the 1909 Administrative division included the later prefecture of Evritania. Its capital was Messolonghi. In 1943 Evritania became a separate prefecture with Karpენisi as its capital.

5. The Prefecture of Arta had its capital in Arta. It is the only prefecture of Epirus that existed in the 1909 administrative division.

1. The Prefecture of Argolida & Corinthia was established by the administrative division of 1909 from the prefectures of Argolida and Corinthia with Nafplio as its capital. The prefecture at the period under consideration included the islands of Hydra, Spetses and Cythera. In 1929 Cythera was annexed to the Prefecture of Attica and Boeotia. In 1949 the prefecture was split into the prefectures of Argolida, with Nafplio as its capital, and Corinth, with Corinth as its capital.

2. The Prefecture of Achaea & Elis was created by the 1909 administrative division of the prefectures of Achaea and Elis (except the southern part, the Prefecture of Olympia, which belonged to the Prefecture of Messenia) with Patras as its capital. In 1930 it was divided into the prefectures of Achaea with capital Patras and Elis with capital Pyrgos.

3. The Prefecture of Arcadia did not have any change in the 1909 administrative division, nor did it change afterwards. The capital of the prefecture was Tripoli.

4. The Prefecture of Laconia was created in the 1909 administrative division from the prefecture of Lakedaimonos. The capital of the prefecture was Sparta.

5. The Prefecture of Messenia had no change in the 1909 administrative division. The capital of the prefecture was Kalamata. Half of the southern part of the Prefecture of Ilia (Province of Olympia) belonged to the prefecture during the period under consideration.

1. The Prefecture of Trikala was created by the administrative division of 1909 from the merger of the prefectures of Trikala & Karditsa. The capital was Trikala. In 1944 we had the divided into two prefectures with the area they have until today. The Prefecture of Trikala with Trikala as the capital & the Prefecture of Karditsa with Karditsa as the capital.

2. The Prefecture of Larissa was established by the Administrative division of 1909. It included Magnesia & the province of Domokos (which in 1911 was united with the Prefecture of Phthiotis & Fokis). Its capital was Larissa. In 1942, Magnesia became a separate prefecture with Volos as its capital.

Telegraphic Postmarks of Greece F. East Aegean Islands

The Telegraphic Offices of the Prefecture of East Aegean Islands

	1. Chios
1	CHIOS (*)

The East Aegean islands were liberated from their Ottoman occupation during the Balkan Wars of 1912/13. The island of Chios was liberated on 11 November 1912. The Prefecture of Chios was established by the Administrative Division of 1915 and had its capital in Chios. For the telegraph office of Chios, of course, a stamp was not made in 1911, but after 1915. It is the only one that reads THΛ. instead of THΛ. ΓΡ. It was only used by the City Telegraph Office and it is only found on telegrams.
